About me

Experienced software engineer with a demonstrated history of working in worldwide impact projects and products.

I'm always looking for new challenges and trying to use cutting edge technologies to solve real world problems. To achieve that, I have been focused on React, Node, GraphQL and Docker in the last years.

Currently, I am working in a Spanish consultancy company called Nomasystems S.L.. We develop projects and high quality software products for other worldwide scale companies.

I also like to work in my personal open source projects in my spare time, all of them are available on my GitHub and in my Personal Portfolio.
